GEMA – Playing/performing music protected by copyright

Anybody who makes music available to the general public in Germany is normally automatically a customer of GEMA. In the case of radio and television broadcasters, cinemas or companies who produce audiovisual media, the situation is easily understood and clear.

However, all organisers of music to be played/performed in public, and thus exhibitors who intend to play/perform music, or TV broadcasts and/or videos/DVDs at their stand, are also customers of GEMA.

In this context, German copyright law states:

“Playing/performing a work is an act which is public whenever it is intended for several persons, unless such a group of persons is specifically delimited and either its members have personal links with each other by way of personal links with the organiser, or they have personal links with each other as such.”

In simpler terms this means that virtually every situation in which one or more persons listen to music together is public. Thus a celebration at a stand also takes place “in public”.

For this reason, registration is required in order to play/perform music protected by copyright. GEMA is obliged to issue such a licence. That is to say that after an applicant has handed in his registration in the correct way, a licence will be issued automatically. The arrival of a bill for fees to be paid is tantamount to approval. If you play/perform music without registering for a licence, then on behalf of GEMA we hereby expressly draw your attention to GEMA's right to lodge claims for damages.

If you wish to query the amounts charged by GEMA, as to whether they are fair and reasonable, then you may do so by having either a court or the arbitration tribunal of the German Patent Office review them. However, it should be noted that GEMA does take care to ensure that the fees charged to all concerned are fair and reasonable. On the one hand GEMA is subject to inspections by the state. On the other hand, for virtually every type of fee charged, an agreement exists between GEMA and such bodies who represent the interests of those who play/perform music.
